CUMULATIVE INDEX TO VOLUMES I THROUGH VOLUME 37

INTRODUCTION

The fact that this publication has received considerable recognition by being one of a dozen local bar journals carried nationwide in the Index of Legal Periodicals and the only local publication in West's California Digests and Codes was called to our attention by a former editor, Robert B. Krueger (The Course of the BULLETIN, Vol. 36, No. 11); "a repository for significant thinking on problems topical to lawyers", was Bud Krueger's characteristically forthright description of our magazine, which inevitably plunged us into a renewed promise of a cumulative index. Now, an established BULLETIN tradition (see early promise in August, 1948 issue: What! No Index) ends without sadness. To have our own index has been our constant goal. Once brought up to date—456 issues indexed—it should be a relatively simple matter (with professional help as reported in the President's Page, page 3) to index an annual 12 and at some appropriate future time to make it all composite.

Our pleasure in presenting this index is not derived so much from the fulfillment of a promise as it is from our gratification that thirty-seven years of contributed articles can now be easily located. We eliminated a great deal of miscellany and trivia and much that remains may be dated but possibly of an historic interest. More important, the many representative articles that can now be found and be of renewed value make it worthwhile. We are particularly pleased to honor our contributors as they have honored us. We take professional pride in being able to promise a permanent record to those who will be contributing to our future issues.

» » THIS INDEX ISSUE of the BAR BULLETIN is presented with the greatest satisfaction, as will be apparent from a recital of the history of its preparation. That it had to be done became ever more obvious each year since it was first promised in these pages in 1948: Repeatedly we have received from libraries throughout the country and from our own members requests for citations of articles we have published, and plaintive demands that we bring forth the index that had been promised and that we intended to produce.

The task was a formidable one, particularly for busy lawyers not trained in the indexing art. As each year passed the job became larger. Some annual indices were prepared and published, but they were intermittent. A typewritten cumulative index was actually prepared in 1948, said by Carlos G. Stratton, then editor of the BULLETIN, to be the work of Norman Elliott. Although it was never printed, it played an important role in the formulation of this publication.

The next forward stride was not taken until 1961, when the Bulletin Committee under Robert B. Krueger's chairmanship essayed the actual completion of the promised work. Starting with Norman Elliott's index, Patricia G. Payne of the Bulletin Committee did, by the expenditure of a monumental amount of her own time, do a cumulative index of the first 23 volumes, covering the years 1925 to 1948. In three of our 1962 issues (July, August and October) a subject index appeared serially; an author index was set up in type; but the Bulletin Committee wisely determined that the real need and demand could be met only by publishing the entire index, up to date, in a single issue. Hence, inevitably, further delay, and more work.

When Dick Barry assumed chairmanship of the Bulletin Committee in February of this year, it was with the firm resolve to finish the job. Through its trustee liaison member, Leonard Janofsky, the Committee strongly represented to the Trustees that the professional services of John W. Heckel, head reference librarian of the Los Angeles County Law Library, should be engaged for the preparation of subject and author indices for volumes 24 through 37, covering the years September 1948 to October 1962. The Trustees agreed, feeling that it is unconscionable to keep buried, for want of an index, the wealth of material published in former BULLETIN issues.

Mr. Heckel did his job promptly and efficiently. Considering its size, and the skill he brought to it, his compensation was indeed nominal. We are grateful for his work, and for his expressed willingness to prepare annual indices in the future as a public service.

This left only the final problem of paying for the composition and printing of this index issue. The solution was to obtain a single sponsor, the Crocker-Citizens National Bank, and to it the County Bar expresses hereby its grateful appreciation. Who first made the suggestion is not clear, but we do know that the actual arrangements were worked out by our good printers, Parker and Son, and their Advertising Director, Donald J. Martin.

Now, as to the future: We plan to publish each year the index that Mr. Heckel will prepare. Then when the appropriate time comes, we hope to publish another over-all index, this time a composite one covering the BULLETIN's entire life. Never again can we afford to deny access to the valuable material that we publish; and as the quality of the BULLETIN content continues to improve we promise to be ever-conscious of our increasing obligation.

How do you build a sound, enduring investment

It requires an understanding of all forms of investment. It requires a sensitivity to the constantly changing investment climate. And it demands plenty of good judgment.

The Investment Management Team of Crocker-Citizens National Bank specializes in taking care of investments for people who do not have the time or the extensive experience to handle a diversified investment program for themselves.

We will keep your securities safe. We will collect dividends and other income. We will buy or sell on your instruction. We will review your investments regularly and make recommendations. (Of course, you may retain complete control.)

Crocker-Citizens' Investment Management Team is a group of highly-skilled analysts, experienced and well informed in all areas of investment. We can help you build a sound, enduring investment program.
